A report has been circulated in various sections of the county to the effect that after July 1, toll rates on motorcycles will be reduced. This question came up at a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors held at the convict camp recently, but no definite action was taken. Under the law the rates can be changed only at the July and January meetings of the board. Therefore, nothing definite will be done until the next regular meeting, which will be held on July 7. An attempt will then be made to have reduced the tolls on motorcycles and probably on automobiles.

LYNCHBURG'S MAYOR IS BUT A YOUNGSTER

Royston Jester, Elected to Chief Magistracy of City, Will Not Be Twenty-six Years Old Until October.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., June 24.—The vote cast at the special election yesterday will be canvassed to-morrow morning by the election commissioners, and shortly after this a certificate of election will be issued to Royston Jester, the Mayor-elect, but Nr. Jester does tion will be issued to Royston Jester, the Mayor-elect, but Mr. Jester does not expect to qualify and begin the discharge of the duties of the office until July 1. He said to-day that he had been through a very strenuous month and desired a few days before qualifying for the office. In addition to this, he deems it best to begin his duties with the beginning of the month, believing this would prove to be more ing for the office. In addition to this, he deems it best to begin his duties with the beginning of the month, believing this would prove to be more convenient for F. W. Whitaker, who has filled the office since the death of Mayor Smith, as well as for himself and the attaches of the Police Court.

Mr. Jester is probably the youngest Mayor-elect Lynchburg ever has had, for he is a few months younger than was N. C. Nanson, Jr., when he entered upon the discharge of the duties of that office several years ago. He will be twenty-six years of age next October. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs Royston Jester and was educated in the public schools of the city, graduating from the high school with honors. He took the full course at Hampden-Sidney College, and in 1907 entered the law class at the University of Virginia, graduating in the class of '99. He returned home and began the practice of his profession. In September, 1910, he formed a law partnership with Duval Martin, which was later dissolved, and on March 1, 1913, he became associated with Joseph P. McCarron, under the firm name of McCarron & Jester, which firm now has offices in the People's National Bank Building. He is the secretary of the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church, and for a number of years was identified with the imission from which grew the present Bethesda Presbyterian Church. On October 9, 1912, he married Miss Lucy W. Withers, of Kustburg, a daughter of John E. Withers.

Mr. Jester has been the object of many congratulations on the street today, being given the glad hand even by those who opposed his election. WOMEN'S MEETINGS.

GUARD MAY NOT CAMP AT VIRGINIA BEACH, VA

Unable to Obtain Satisfactory Trans portation Rates, Officers Search for New Site.

Washington, June 24.—Inability to obtain transportation rates satisfactory to militia headquarters, from the viewpoint of the funds available, for the trip to the camp site at Virginia Beach, Va., where it was proposed to have the National Guard of the District of Columbia hold its annual en-campment this summer, has sent mem-bers of the brigade staff looking for another camp site. A board of officers to-day was appointed to proceed to Colonial Beach, Va., and to make an examination of a site in the vicinity of that resort.

Satisfactory rates can be arranged for this trip, the camp site is owned by the steamboat company, which has offered to take the guardsmen at a reasonable rate, and the steamer St. Johns can take the entire contingent in one trip, whereas it would be necessary to make two trips to the Virginia Beach site. Officers of the guard are just as enthusiastic about the Colonial Beach location as that at Virginia While looking over camp sites, the board of officers also will examine places in upper Maryland in the vicin-ity of Frederick and Harpers Ferry. The local National Guard has its limit on funds, it is explained, and if it is found too expensive to take the men to one place it is necessary to seek other places. The transportation rates other places. The transportation rates to Virginia Beach so far quoted are beyond the limit of transportation available, it is pointed out, and it is for this reason that other camp sites are being visited.

Major Alfred P. Robbins, quartermaster, N. G. D. C., endeavored yesterday to have one of the local steamboat companies reconsider its bid for the transportation, but he was in-the transportation, but he was informed, he reported, that the figure was the lowest that could be offered It was following this conference that the decision was reached to look for
